Course Objectives

1. Students will practice the writing process from brainstorming, to outlining, drafting, and editing/revision; therefore, “see” the development of their ideas.
2. Students will be able to develop writing skills through extensive readings and writing of different rhetoric genres (i.e. classification, process, argumentation, cause/effect, problem/solution), thus also understand English text structure.
3. Students will understand the importance of an appealing title, introductory paragraph, and concluding paragraph, and practice doing so throughout the semester.
4. Students will learn and practice strategies for getting ideas, and to use checklists to self-monitor and proofread their writing.
5. Students, as authentic audience for one another, will give constructive feedback and suggestions to each other during the editing and revision phase.
